AIR FORCE MUSEUM VISIT PROPOSED

WOULD YOU LIKE TO VISIT THE AIR FORCE MUSEUM? With a little luck you may be one of 25 to win a free (transportation) trip to and from Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio.

All you have to do to qualify is to make a contribution ($1.00 minimum) to the Air Force Museum Foundation, Incorporated.

A new official Air Force Museum is under construction at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio. The entire cost of construction is being defrayed by voluntary contributions. Help write your chapter of history; take part in this important project by contributing to the Air Force Museum Foundation Building Fund. Direct return contribution envelopes are being distributed by volunteer fund drive workers.

The Museum is presently located in a World War II structure on Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio. The present facility is not fire-proof, and lacks temperature and humidity control essential for the proper preservation of a truly priceless collection. The Air Force Museum, internationally recognized as the world's largest military aviation collection, is open to the public without charge every day of the year except Christmas. It is estimated that over one million visitors will tour the Museum in 1970.

The new $6 million Air Force Museum building is being constructed on a 200 acre site at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio. Under one roof it will house the heritage of the Air Force - more than 100 aircraft plus additional exhibits. There will be more than 160,000 square feet of uninterrupted display space in the totally air conditioned building 300 feet wide, 800 feet long and 80 feet high. A 500 seat theater and a 200 seat restaurant, plus a reception area and aviation research files, will be available to the over 1,000,000 visitors expected each year.

When you make your contribution, your name will be placed in a box and the drawing will be

ANG LEADERSHIP SCHOOL

The National Guard Bureau has established a special Leadership School for airmen in Grade E3 and E4, to be conducted for two weeks at McGhee Tyson Air National Guard Base, Knoxville, Tennessee. First date will be 9 August 1970, and training may be in lieu of Field Training. Anyone interested in attending this first class contact CMSgt Ligon in the Ground Training Office this UTA, not later than 1330, Sunday, 19 July 1970.

NATIONAL GUARDSMAN MAGAZINE

Individual subscriptions to "The National Guardsman" expired 30 June 1970. The Group Commander is pleased with the large number of subscriptions to this important publication and encourages all current subscribers to renew. He also encourages recently enlisted personnel to subscribe. "The National Guardsman" offers valuable information to the individual guardsman and his family and he should have it in his home.

Our goal for subscriptions in this unit is 100% of the membership. We will make every effort possible to reach this goal because we are convinced that the information contained in the magazine is that important.

The subscription rate is only $2.00 per year. Application forms will be available in the Mess Hall during drills.

RESERVIST'S KIN DUE $15,000

WASHINGTON - Less than two days after President Nixon signed the liberalized insurance bill into law, survivors of a young Reservist became eligible to collect $15,000 - even though he never paid a premium. Officials say it is possible the Reservist never even heard of the new law.

A traveling salesman, he was killed in a crash driving from his hotel in New Orleans to training at Alvin Callendar

AIR NATIONAL GUARD OFFICER EDUCATION PROGRAM

The Air National Guard Officer Education Program provides for professional military education for precommission training through senior service schools. ANGR 53-03 dated 13 October 1969 establishes a policy by which all officers are to be offered the opportunity and are expected to participate in the officer education program.

An Air Reserve Personnel Center study dated 1 October 1969 indicated that less than 2% of the ANG Lt Colonels have completed Air War College in either resident or nonresident status. The study demonstrated how far the ANG must go to bring the professional military education of its officers more closely in line with the stated policy goals of ANGR 53-03.

Officers of the ANG have an excellent opportunity to keep abreast of their regular Air Force counterparts through the Air War College Correspondence Program. For some students, individual study through correspondence is the most desirable way to accomplish their professional military education while others prefer group study. The AWC Correspondence Program closely parallels the resident program but is flexible enough to be accomplished on an individual basis or in a group study meeting.

ANG officers in the grade of Lt Colonel and above, Lt Colonel selectees, majors who have completed a Command and Staff Course, and civilians in the grade of GS-13 and above are eligible to take part in the AWC Correspondence Program.

Under the group study program, participants will be enrolled in the AWC correspondence course. The Air War College will administer the correspondence course requirements and will provide the necessary texts and supplemental materials for the conduct of the group study. Management of the group study activities will be the responsibility of a designated officer at the ANG unit.

(An AFNS Feature)

Occasions arise when it is necessary to have someone act as your agent to handle a particular piece of business. This is done by giving your power of attorney.

A power of attorney is a legal document by which you, the grantor or donor, give to someone else, called the attorney-in-fact or the donee, the authority to act as your agent or attorney - either generally, or more often, for some specific limited purpose.

A general power of attorney gives your agent the right to conduct practically any business transaction you could do personally, including the right to run up bills for which you will be responsible.

A special or limited power of attorney gives your agent the right to act on your behalf for some particular transaction-e.g., registering your car, shipping households goods, leasing a house or signing for quarters.

A general power of attorney is seldom necessary and may be less effective because a special power of attorney is more likely to be accepted. Also, for certain transactions, a special form of power of attorney may be a legal requirement.

TECHNICIAN UNIFORMS

RECOGNIZING THAT TECHNICIANS, required to wear military uniform on the job, wear them out faster than "part-timers" do, NGB has ruled they're authorized replacements (including shoes) on the basis of "fair wear and tear." The word's on a 6 April National Guard Bureau letter.

CHAPLAIN KEN TABER

"Freedom-Privilege or Obligation?" is the question to be answered in this year's Freedom Foundation essay contest....a question to be asked of each of us as we celebrate our Country's independence this month.

I resist the thought that freedom is either a privilege or an obligation. For me, freedom is both; not one or the other. As a privilege, freedom is given to me from someone else. It is not of my own creation nor for the taking. Those who began this "noble experiment" of "United States" and those who have served to preserve its union have given me the freedom for every man to be free both from destruction and for experiment. As a society, I believe our country will survive each current crisis. Those who put trust and believe in me, give me the personal freedom to be responsible to them and to myself. Freedom is a privilege.

Precisely because of this, freedom is also an obligation...a welcomed one. I have the opportunity to give freedom to someone else as it has been given to me. My obligation is to pass the gift of freedom along to those around me and to those who will come after. Jesus' words are "No greater love there is than this, that a man lay down his life for another". He is talking about extending freedom.

We make this gift with the personal strength which comes from God. He has loved us in the voices of the Old Testament prophets, in the resurrection of Jesus Christ and in the gift of His Living Spirit. Privilege and obligation, freedom has its ultimate source..."Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is freedom."

Field, Louisiana.

The accident happened around dawn June 27. Mr. Nixon signed the insurance bill into law on June 25.

The new law, which increases maximum coverage for active duty servicemen from $10,000 to $15,000, also extends the coverage to Reservists and Guardsmen from the time they leave for training to the time they return home. The premium for the Reservists is $1.80 a year for full coverage.

The law specifies that coverage is automatic, unless an individual specifically rejects all or part of the insurance.

In the case of the Louisiana Reservist, it is presumed that he was automatically covered, even though he had never paid the premium, since he had not rejected the insurance.

The Navy is now processing the case. If approved, as expected, his survivors will get $14,998.20 which is the full $15,000 of insurance protection minus one year's premium of $1.80.

A large share of the credit for passage of the section covering Reservists goes to Thomas Kiernan assistant director of Insurance Service for the Veterans Administration, and to Colonel Arthur A. Brackett (Ret.), director of Air Force Affairs for the Reserve Officers Association Brackett, before he left active duty several years ago, was a leading authority on ROPA and other Reserve personnel matters. Brackett and Kiernan have been advocating the portal-to-portal insurance

EDITORIAL

Off the Top

Most people who save money regularly and consider savings a budget item like their groceries, car payment, rent and utilities, clothings, entertainment and the telephone bill, follow this simple rule: Savings come off the top.

They put aside their savings first and then use the rest of their pay for living expenses. This way, they don't miss what they don't have in their hands, and they don't kid themselves by saying that they will have some money left at the end of the month to put into savings.

Furthermore, when their monthly income increases through promotion, a general pay raise such as the recent one of 8.1 per cent, or a longevity pay increase, they earmark part of that new money for savings before they get accustomed to having it. That way they are not faced with that question unanswerable by many of us: Where did that last pay raise go?

Right now you can put your money to work for you in several profitable ways. Savings accounts in banks and other savings institutions, where deposits are insured by the Government, are paying high interest rates. U.S. Savings Bonds are paying the highest interest rate in their history. And, for servicemen and women overseas the Uniformed Services Savings Deposit Program pays interest at the rate of 10 per cent per year, compounded quarterly on deposits up to $10,000.

If you save by depositing part of your earnings in the Uniformed Services Deposit Program or by buying bonds, you also will be helping your Government achieve two specific goals of its own.

The first of these is the reduction in our country's balance of payments. The money you put into savings while stationed overseas reduces the number of dollars that country has for buying our reserve stocks of gold.

When you save money by buying U.S. Savings Bonds you are helping to ease the pressure that pushes prices up and leads to inflation.

Thus, in helping the Government in these goals you also are helping to protect your own money, both in your savings and in your daily spending. (AFPS)
